8	The one thing I really struggled with was keeping up with all the assignments especially during this season when I had so many assignments to do online for each of my classes. I think it would be helpful to be able to turn things in late for points off or even be able to have a grace period for one or two assignments because a lot of the time I had so many assignments to keep track off for all of my classes that I truly just forgot to do some discussion posts for this class.	Q

11	No changes need to be made.	Q

13	More time should be given to complete the websites. A good website takes time and giving students only 4 days to submit a website will give you something functional but maybe not show off a student's best abilities.	, Q
14	Let us choose our own businesses to design websites for instead of assigning them.	Q
15	I wouldn't make any changes.	Q

16	I understand the need for class responses, but I don't think they are necessary for every discussion assignment (once a week.) Also, some assignments could have been better if I had been offered a few extra days to complete the main discussion posts. So maybe drop some of the responses for big assignments and require that a "draft" main post be due on Thursday and a revision of the draft be completed by Saturday.	Q

6	You earn what you put in. Since the main source of grades were through the discussion assignments, and you had ample time to complete them all, I think the evaluation method was very fair.	Q
7	This professor was extremely fair. The grading system included a weekly discussion board where the Main Post counted 70% of the weeks grade and the Response Post counted 30% of the weeks grade. Once I forgot a response post and received a 70% for the week, the professor reached out in the comments on my grade for the week asking if I was okay. This really makes a difference because this professor clearly cares about the wellbeing of students.	Q

14	I think the evaluation was difficult at times. It was difficult because there was so much criteria you had to meet for a discussion post or reply, and it was a lot sometimes. It made the assignments time consuming which normally wouldn't have been such a big deal but was overwhelming considering that all of my classes had to be moved majority online and I was having to teach myself a lot of material for five different classes on my own.	Q
15	I think the professor was very fair on grading for this class	Q
